

The Masque and Rapier Society of Loyola College will present its last production of the year tonight and tomorrow night in Cohn Hall. The dramatic offering to be presented is "The Potting Shed" by Graham Greene. This production stars two veteran Loyola players, Ed Slawski and Karen McGrath, as well as Patty Gruel who is playing her first role here at Loyola. Ed plays the part of James Callifer while Karen plays his wife and Patty plays the part of Ann Callifer. Carole McKewen, winner of the best actress award at the Jesuit One Act Play Contest, is also featured in the offering. The Potting Shed is the story of an amnesia victim who, upon recovering his memory, finds his reason for living. Performances begin at 8:30 pm and tickets cost $1.25 per person or couple.

Archbishop To Preside At June Commencement

On Sunday, June 3, at 6 pm on the Evergreen campus, the Most Reverend Lawrence J. Shehan, Archbishop of Baltimore, will be the presiding officer and will deliver the commencement address to the graduates. Archbishop Shehan will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the exercise.

Born in Baltimore, Lawrence Joseph Shehan attended St. Ann's grammar school, St. Charles and St. Mary's and The North American College in Rome. He was ordained in Rome in December 1922 by Archbishop Joseph Palica. His first appointment was to St. Patrick's in Washington, D. C. in 1923. He served as assistant director of Catholic Charities and was named Pastor of St. Patrick's in 1941.

First Bishop

In December 1945 he was consecrated Titular Bishop of Lydda and the Auxiliary Bishop to the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley and immediately took up residence at St. Phillip and James on Charles Street in Baltimore. He was appointed the first Bishop of Bridgeport, Connecticut in 1953.

On July 10, 1961, Bishop Shehan was named titular Archbishop of Bulgaria and co-adjutor Archbishop of Baltimore with the right of succession to Archbishop Keough. On September 27, 1961 he officially assumed his new duties and following the death of Archbishop Keough in Dec. 1961 Lawrence J. Shehan became the new Archbishop of Baltimore.

Mass Sunday

President Father Beatty will be the celebrant of the Baccalaureate Mass Sunday morning with the sermon by Rev. Anthony P. Dziwulski, a Loyola alumnus of the class of 1937.

ROTC commissioning ceremonies will take place prior to commencement with Major General Richard G. Prather, USA Ret., now with the Civil Defense in Baltimore, as the principal speaker.

Fourteen Loyola Seniors Gain Graduate Awards

During the past year, fourteen seniors have won a total of two scholarships, seven fellowships, and fifteen assistantships, totaling in excess of $73,000. From the history department, John Feller accepted a Fullbright Scholarship valued at $2500 for study at Muenchen University in Germany. William Garland, a political science major, won a scholarship valued at $1900 for three years. Eugene Snouffer, an English major, received two fellowships: he accepted a fellowship to the University of North Carolina for $2100 plus tuition for the first year. Gene declined a fellowship to Johns Hopkins University for $1000 plus tuition.

A chem major, John Milkowski, accepted a fellowship worth $2400 per year for four years to the University of Maryland, and declined a research fellowship worth $2730 per year for four years from the National Institutes of Health.

Engineering Winner

In the Engineering Department honors were garnered by William Hartman who in addition to receiving a research fellowship to Johns Hopkins worth $3265 received an assistantship worth $2700 from Penn State.

Mike Hillmann won a teaching fellowship worth $1800 plus tuition to Creighton University for study in English, and an assistantship valued at $1800 plus tuition to Villanova University.

Thomas Duffy received a research fellowship worth $2000 per year and subject to renewal each year to the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy.

John Casey received two teaching assistantships: one, to Northwestern and, the other to Purdue University worth over $4300. John accepted an assistantship worth $2000 plus tuition to Michigan State.

John Baynes accepted a teaching assistantship in biological chemistry to Fordham University. The assistantship is valued at $1400 plus tuition. Also from the Chemistry Department, Bernard Zubrowski received an assistantship to Notre Dame University worth $2100 and also an assistantship worth $1800 to Carnegie Institute.

In the Physics Department, John Dinan received an assistantship worth $2000 from Notre Dame, and Charlie Turner received a research assistantship to Iowa State, worth $3750 per year and a teaching assistantship worth $1800 per year plus a remission of $1000 tuition to Notre Dame.

Charlie Graham, a biology major, accepted an assistantship to the University of Delaware worth $2600 per year on a four year basis. Charlie also received a University of Maryland assistantship worth $2600 per year on a four year basis.

This year's winners constitute a total of 75% over last year's number, and the total value of the awards doubled.

Father Didusch To Celebrate Golden Jubilee

Rev. Joseph Stephen Didusch, S.J., of Loyola College in Baltimore, will celebrate the golden jubilee of his ordination to the priesthood on Sunday, May 13. His Excellency, the Most Reverend Lawrence J. Shehan, Archbishop of Baltimore, will be the celebrant of a Pontifical Mass of Thanksgiving in observance of the jubilee at 10 a.m. in Our Lady of Evergreen Chapel on the college campus.

As Professor Emeritus and former chairman of the biology department at Loyola College, Father Didusch has devoted forty-two years to teaching, twenty-three years of which have been at Loyola.

Native Baltimorean

Father Didusch was born in Baltimore on November 25, 1879, and attended Loyola High School. After graduating from Loyola College in 1898, he entered the old Jesuit Novitiate at Frederick, Maryland, and continued his studies at Woodstock College and then did graduate work in biology at Columbia University.

He received his M.A. from Woodstock in 1910 and was ordained to the priesthood there in 1912.

Colorful History

Before coming to Loyola in 1935 as professor of biology, Father Didusch taught at Loyola School in New York and at St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, where he also served as dean. He served as a regent of the Medical and Dental School of Georgetown University, and as rector of the Jesuit novitiate at Wernersville, Pennsylvania.

A Brighter Day

Last February, the new Greyhound staff took office—a group of unseasoned journalists bandying about promises of presenting a revolutionary kind of newspaper, and shouting the praises of a progressive view on writing which they called “the New Look.” Has this viewpoint been adopted or was the “New Look” just a catchy slogan?

Well, as we had defined it, the “New Look” was to have been an outlook which would bring our newspaper to the fore as a campus commentator—a critic of student affairs. We feel that we have realized this aim to some extent, but are equally sure that we have, at times, failed to do so. For these failures, we apologize to our readers, but ask their indulgence since we have been plagued with position changes and mechanical difficulties.

The general staff of the Greyhound has devised many plans for the improvement of current problems and is, consequently, looking forward to a much improved newspaper in the fall. We hope, at that time, to make the “New Look” a new experience in reading, one which we will be proud to produce and that our fellow students will be proud to claim as their own.

P.A.G.

College Contribution

As we approach the end of another scholastic year, we tend to review the past nine months of endeavor in the light of things which we have gained in the way of honors or recognition, and we will usually remember best only those events which caused us some pleasure at the time. How can anyone forget the great fun enjoyed by all at Loyola Night or the excitement provided by our scrappy basketball team as they gave us one of the finest displays of determination seen by any opposing team this year. Certainly everyone has joined a bull session in the cafeteria at one time or another and was amazed that he actually benefited from it. These discussions can sometimes be more helpful than any classroom lecture.

Going back over the past year, however, how many people stop and think about, not what they got out of Loyola, but what they did for Loyola? It is said that you only get out of anything that which you put into it, and this certainly applies to college. The satisfaction derived out of any positive action is certainly more vivid in memory than merely being present at some outstanding event. Of course, not everyone is able to participate in activities to a great extent, but sometimes it is more often the average student who, by his show of loyalty and zeal to class and school activities, contributes to the betterment of his college. When returning to Evergreen next year, this idea of unselfish contribution should be in one's mind, for its positive application will surely improve your college life.

President's Review

The conclusion of the year as president of the Student Body leaves me aware that there are many things that could have been done, but were not done. The ideas and suggestions which come up at election time in the form of campaign promises are ideas that might have been acted upon previously, if they had been mentioned to the proper person. This is indicative of the lack of communication somewhere within the chain of command of the student body, and this lack of communication will be the basic problem facing next year's student Council and its newly elected head, Martin Snyder. This situation is one which many people are not aware of, but which should perhaps be made more obvious to the student body through some adequate means. However, if the problem can be solved, I am sure that the council will be no less than successful.

This year's council has found its place in the Loyola community, not by being what some would term inactive, but by not being spectacular. It has succeeded in establishing a healthy and active relationship with the faculty and administration. Perhaps this is its greatest accomplishment. It has also succeeded in acting effectively upon every reasonable suggestion presented to it by the students or by other activities.

When the new student council begins its operation, it will have much to do, but I am sure that it can function more effectively than our previous councils because it has much more to work with in terms of the respect with which it is held by the faculty and administration, and also because it will recognize more clearly its goals as a means to them.

The policy of the Greyhound on the reapportionment issue was clearly stated in an editorial in the last issue. It is not within the scope of this column to criticize such policy, but it is our responsibility to examine the truth a little more closely.

The editorial stated that there were two prevalent views. “The objectors . . . maintained that underclassmen were not well-versed enough in school affairs to exercise a controlling vote in the Council. Supporters of the reapportionment have claimed that, since the freshmen and the sophomore classes make up the majority of Loyola students, they should have the greatest representation on the Council.” The conclusion to this statement is that the student body will be governed by a majority which is not well-versed in school affairs.

It must be noted that:

1. Loyola is not a problem in Democracy but a Liberal Arts College conducted by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus.
2. A freshman is a manifestation of all the miserable connotations which the word implies. His first year is a trial period, during which he makes himself acceptable to the College. During this period, he has neither the intelligence nor the right to dominate the student body.
3. The sophomore--is a sophomore.
4. As representation is now apportioned the rights of the freshmen and sophomores are not perverted.
5. In the educational system of the United States and in the tradition of this College, the upperclassmen are the dominant influence. As a rule they have matured in the system. They are better known and more respected by the faculty. It is a fact that they are the leaders in athletics, activities and the functions of the College.

Again, this is not an attack on the policy of the Greyhound. It is an attempt to make known some of the opinion of elements of the student body, which have not yet been heard.

The Watchdog

The following are excerpts from Watchdogs of the past school year:

Recently, our country has been made to witness one of the most infamous incidents of our times. The incident to which we are referring is one which has divided a once free city, and made it into a “possible future battleground.” The scene in this city has been one of conflict and confusion, with enemy patrols facing each other across a border which seems almost non-existent. After repeatedly jeering and cursing one another, the enemy forces have gradually subsided, but each force is now in the process of re-arming itself for an all-out war which could take place by the end of next year. We must dedicate ourselves to the prevention of a further conflict at all costs. The solution lies with us. We must at all costs save Ocean City.

Charlie O'Donnell thinks that since we now have more lamp-posts than trees on the campus, the college name should be changed from Evergreen to “Ever-Ready.”

Don't tell anybody, but Jim Clarke, is working on a new toothpaste, containing salt and pepper. He bills it as a product for people who want to brush during meals.

They are really serious about only senior parking on Millbrook. Why, in just one day, the Dean of Men sent to that Towson gas station the following: one Coca-Cola truck, three tricycles, one motorcycle, one Army bus equipped with band, one fire chief's car, and the grand finale being two tow trucks each trying to tow each other.

New book: “Knit Your Own Sweaters At Home” by Ed Slawski.

Will Hoffman claims that he is miffed because he saw one Faculty member getting a free haircut the other day. Willy claims that we should elect the barber Dean of Men so that maybe all of us could get “excused cuts.”

Henry Becker is working on a musical, but I don't think it has a chance. It's about this fellow who owns a camel lot . . .

Fr. D'Invilliers was telling us of the day the whole human race will rise up. If you think the Charles Street traffic is bad now, just you wait!

Bob Bell keeps this paper's petty cash in his coat . . . sort of a petty coat!

There was a car which was completely covered with snow. When all this snow melts, the car will be in a big puddle. Sort of a “car pool.”

I have just been informed that Doctor Duffy of our Biology Dept. is the program advisor for Ben Casey. Cheer up, Ben, our freshmen have to put up with the same thing!!

Willy Hoffman and Joe Bowman are teaming up to write a new song hit. The new record will be called “The Low Marks Swing” or “D for Two.”

All of the students who wrote the Watchdog during this year, and will be writing it again come next September, would like to wish the entire student body “Good Luck” in the exams and hope all of you have a nice summer.

The Year In Retrospect

With the school year drawing to a close, it would be interesting to look back over the year and review the major events which occurred at Evergreen.

In September, Loyola welcomed 240 freshmen. This, combined with the other classes, brought the total enrollment of Loyola to an all time high of 780 students. After its many summer rehearsals, the Dramatic Society presented "My Three Angels," which drew record-breaking crowds at both of its performances. The Athletic Department also announced that the first Loyola Invitational Basketball Tournament would be held during the Christmas holidays. September ended with the freshmen beating the sophomores in the Annual Rugby game.

October was ushered in with the annual Freshman Welcome Dance. The formation of honor seminars for qualified students was announced by various departments on campus. On the athletic scene, the soccer and cross-country teams were beginning their seasons; by the end of the autumn, the soccer team compiled a 3-8-1 log and the cross-country team finished their season with a 5-1-1 record and Rick Framp-ton the Mason-Dixon Individual Champion. With the news that Fr. Higgins had published "Dogma for the Layman", the month of October passed on!

MOST VALUABLE

THE NEW LOOK

Alpha Sigma Nu ushered in the month of November by announcing that it had accepted seven new members. Later in the month, Loyola's military men sponsored the annual Military Ball. The traditional Loyola Night was held on November 22, and, as usual, was hailed by all as the best one to date. The results of the Freshman Elections were given at Loyola Night and Tony Miller was elected President. The Dramatic Society closed this month with "Caesar and Cleopatra."

The month of "Santa Claus" rolled in with the Glee Club's annual Christmas Concert, which was a tremendous success. The winter sports were also getting underway now. All of us at Loyola were saddened by the news of the death of Archbishop Francis Keough, a close friend of Loyola College. Just before the holidays, fourteen seniors were selected for the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Amid sounds of joy and "See you at the tournament," the students left Evergreen to begin their holidays. Ending December with a big bang, the Hound Basketball team captured the Tournament, and Charley O'Donnell was named most valuable player of the tournament. The biggest event in January was final exams. After these came the Prohibition Daze. The barber shop was opened too!

The headlines of The Greyhound for February 2 blared "Greyhound Initiates 'The New Look'." With this announcement, Pete Genovese became the paper's new Editor-in-Chief and Henry Becker was named as Managing Editor. Also during this month, all the history majors at Loyola greeted, with mixed emotions, the news that Father Campbell would leave Evergreen for a year to do historical research. The Greyhound wishes Father the best of luck! The Dramatic Society brought to Loyola the first place trophy for winning the Provincial One-Act Play contest. Another champion in February was Ken Freimuth of our swimming team, who broke the old scoring record of 267 points.

In fitting fashion The Greyhound started the month of March off with a special sports issue in honor of the M-D Tournaments. Ending the winter sports season, the Wrestlers brought to Loyola, for the first time, the Dual-Meet Championship. The Swimming team, for the second consecutive year, won the M-D Swim Crown. The Hound basketballers ended their season with a fine 9-3 log, with the high scorer for the team being freshman Marty Maher with a total of 190 points! Monsignor Nelligan, Mr. Pangborn, and Mr. Schmick, Sr. were the three men who were honored at

FATHER CAMPBELL

Loyola's Maryland Day Ceremonies. Ending the month of March with a bang, The Greyhound issued its April Fools edition. This was hailed by all as the best issue in a long time!

The major news event of April was the announcement that Newman Press was going to publish a book about the life of the late Senator Herbert R. O'Connor, The Inevitable Success, which was written by Dr. Harry Kirwin, Chairman of the History and Social Science Departments at Loyola College. Returning from the Easter holidays, the student then voted in the general elections. As a result, Marty Snyder was elected as President of the Student Body and Jim Nosker was elected as President of the Athletic Association. Numerous class positions were also filled!

With this, the last issue of the newspaper for this year, we are proud to see all of the seniors who won fellowship or other forms of aid of grad school. We are also proud that Archbishop Shehan is speaking at the Commencement Exercises.

With final examinations now in the horizon, The Greyhound extends the best of luck to students and wishes all seniors the best in all their future endeavors—either work or graduate school!

Hound Nine Drops To Second Spot In League

As a result of losing their last two games, the Hound nine has dropped to second place in the Northern Division of the Mason-Dixon standings. Western Maryland, with a 4-2 log has moved into top spot by virtue of their recent 6-5 victory over the Hounds. Last Friday, the visiting "Yellow-jackets" of Randolph Macon College in Virginia racked up a decisive 8-2 victory over the Hounds at Evergreen. Rel Van Daniker, who has pitched fine ball all season, was tagged with his second loss of the campaign. In Saturday's crucial tilt with Western Maryland, the Hound defense just wouldn't click as their 10 hit attack was marred by several costly errors that enabled the "Green Terrors" to eke out a 6-5 victory. Phil Potter, who pitched a good ball game and contributed two hits to the Hound cause, was tagged with the loss.

Title Hopes Dim

This was a tough game to lose as far as the Hound Championship hopes are concerned. Now the pressure is on and they must win all six of their remaining games in order to cop the crown. This includes the Mason-Dixon playoffs which take place on May 17, 18, and 19.

As it stands the Hounds own a fine 5 and 3 record in conference play. During the season they have displayed the fine brand of baseball that they are capable of playing. A double shut-out of Baltimore University and another twin-header sweep of Mt. Saint Mary's attests to the fact. Their remaining task is a formidable one but they have shown in the past that they are up to it. It would surprise no one if the Hounds brought home the championship.

Intramural Items

Softball

There were two Intramural Softball games scheduled for last week. One game was won by forfeit, when the Dukes failed to show and the Arsonists gained their first victory. The Nifty Nines captured the second game from the Foul Beagels in a big upset by a 17-6 score. Games on tap for this morning pit the Beings vs. the Nifty Nines and the Zorches vs. the Sharks-Crusaders winner.

Teams that were previously knocked out of this single elimination tournament include the Pre-Socratics, Barbarosa's Blasters, the Thumpers, and the Uncle Willies.

Bowling

Plans are now being formulated for a summer Intramural Bowling League. About 35 or more members are needed to make this a good league. All interested should sign up on the A.A. bulletin board or contact Charlie Nemecek for further information concerning time and place. Charlie reports that the league will offer some fine trophies as prizes. This year's graduates as well as all other Loyola students are eligible to join the league. Bowling with a group can be real fun. So, if you can, sign up now.

FLEET AFOOT: Hound cindermen Bill Morris and Tony Ryan outrace strong opponents in a recent track event.

Stickmen Play Host To Towson State Tomorrow

The Hound Lacrosse season is nearing its end. Charlie Wenzel's Stickmen currently have a 3-6 record and, if all goes well, the team will finish with a 5-6 log after games with Towson tomorrow and C.W. Post College next Saturday. Thus far in the season, John Stewart and Marty Pilsch have battled it out for the team scoring lead. At present John is on top with 16 goals to Marty's 10. However, Marty leads in assists having 15 to John's 9. The whole Hound squad showed marked improvement this season. On the attack, Pilsch was helped out by Senior Mike Abromaitis and Junior, Paige Fried. The first midfield consisted of Stewart and Freshmen Jim Norton and Lou Becker. One of the strongest points on Loyola's

MARTY PILSCH

Linksmen Finish With 3-3 Log

The Hound linksmen have completed their dual match season. The Nap Doherty-coached golfers wound up with an overall record of three wins and three losses. The team was led throughout the season by their Senior captain Ed Conway and by Junior Bill Mislowsky. Conway, of course, will be lost to next year's squad by graduation, but Mislowsky, the squad's most consistent performer, will return. Also counted on next year will be Mike Kenney, Vince Petroniero, Bill Kohlhepp, the most improved player, and Steve Krac, all of whom played solid golf for this season's squad.

squad this year was the defense where Captain Ham Dugan combined with Marty Quinn and Tom Milligan to do a good policing job on opposing scorers. Another factor in the tight Hound defense was the play of Freshmen goalie, Harry Bregel, whose ability may be attested to by his 24 saves in the Hopkins contest.

Outlook

Looking ahead to next year, the Hounds will have a seasoned squad returning. Perhaps the added experience will be able to reverse the two 1 goal losses they suffered this season. Although senior regulars such as Mike Abromaitis and Ham Dugan will be sorely missed, coach Wenzel feels that replacements from this season's young squad will be able to fill the gaps.

Netmen Have Good Year

The Hound Tennis team played Hopkins yesterday at Homewood with the Northern Division title of the Mason-Dixon at stake. The results of the match are unavailable to this edition of the Greyhound, which went to press on Monday. Barring unforeseen circumstances, the winner of the Hound-Hopkins match will play Hampden-Sydney for the Conference Championship on the latter's court.

Good Season

The Loyola netters have had a fine season. They can boast of victories over such teams as Rider College, St. Peters, Western Maryland, Catholic U., Mt. St. Mary's (twice), and Towson. The well-balanced Hound team consisted of Russ Tontz, Capt. Dave Mulrooney, Alex Cummings, Danny Michaelis, Jimmy Mohler, Larry McCanna, and Barry Tillman.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

by Tom Kenney

Arnie Sapperstein, the Hound Trackmen's ace sprinter, will be going after his third straight 100 and 220 yd. dash titles this weekend in the Mason-Dixon Championship meet at Hopkins. Arnie will be closing out a four year career in which he has compiled a truly remarkable record. Among his accomplishments:

He has lost only one race in his college career. That was in his Freshman year when he placed second in the 100 yd. dash in a dual meet with Washington College.

He has captured the Conference 100 and 220 yd. dash titles for the past two seasons.

He has set all-time Loyola College records in three events--the 100, 220, and 440 yd. dashes.

This year he has posted the fastest clockings in the State in both the 100 (9.5) and 220 (21.5) yds. events. His competition for these times includes runners from big time track schools such as Navy, Maryland, Morgan, and Maryland State.

Indeed, the amazing Mr. Sapperstein has made quite a name for both himself and Loyola in the past four years.

Trackmen Lose In Final Meet; Tourney Today

Last weekend the Greyhound trackmen closed out their season with a loss, 66½-55½, to Washington College. The meet was the culmination of a 1-6 season for the disappointed thinclads. In the beginning of the year, the Hounds were hard hit by the losses to scholastic ineligibility, and as the season progressed, they were further weakened by the injuries and illnesses of key performers, such as Hank McGraw, Dan Leubecker, and Charlie Cherry.

The season was brightened, however, by the performances of the seniors, Arnie Sapperstein, Bill Smuck, Lew Smith, and Charlie Kyper, Sapperstein, who has recorded the fastest times in the 100--9.5 seconds, and the 220--21.5 seconds, in the state this season, is expected to retain his sprint titles in this week-end's M-D Championship tournament.

Among the encouraging aspects of the past season were the blossoming of soph Ryan as a truly fine sprinter and quarter-miler, and the development of freshman Bill Morris as an all-around trackman. Last season, Ryan made it to the finals in the 100, and he should do better this year. Morris, in addition to being a fine sprinter, also performed well in the high jump and broad jump, and he even scored in the pole vault and mile relay. He too should notch some points in the Championships.
